

Job opening

Communication, Press and Public Relations coordinator (m/f/d) in Brussels

The European office of the Friedrich-Ebert-Stiftung in Brussels is looking for a Communication coordinator for the competence center "Climate and Social Justice" starting as soon as possible.

The Friedrich-Ebert-Stiftung (FES) is an independent and non-profit organization that is committed to the ideas and values of social democracy and the labor movement.

The Competence Centre "Climate and Social Justice" is dedicated to the task of reconciling decarbonization and climate neutrality with social justice and regional progress. We focus on industrial, energy and labor market policy as well as the European Green Deal. We formulate progressive policy proposals for the structural change taking place.

The worldwide network of FES enables dialogue on political, economic, social, and environmental issues not only between Germany and Europe, within itself Europe, but also between Europe and the world. The Friedrich-Ebert-Stiftung – as an institution involved in dialogue, education, and policy advice – has a special role as a "political network organization" for and with various European institutions.

Tasks

- Development and implementation of a communication strategy for the Competence Centre Climate and Social Justice
- Maintaining and expanding media contacts
- Writing press releases, responding to media enquiries and organizing press briefings
- Supporting the planning and implementation of editorial activities such as the newsletter, publications, and online communication
- Designing and maintaining the homepage and social media channels
- Bearing responsibility for the production of brochures and information material
- Advising the FES offices in the region on the development and implementation of climate-specific communication strategies
- Editorial support for events (planning and implementation of accompanying communication)

Requirements

- University degree or certified further education in PR / communication / journalism, focus on environmental or climate journalism is desirable
- Working experience in public relations of an NGO or a company, ideally in the environmental, climate or energy sector
- Sound knowledge of European and international climate policy, especially the European Green Deal
- Excellent communication skills in English, good knowledge of French is desirable
- Strong communication skills, in particular the ability to present complex topics in a target group-oriented and dialogue-based manner
- Knowledge of designing digital information (homepage, social media)
- An independent and flexible way of working
- Knowledge of the Brussels media landscape is an advantage

We offer

- A full-time position
- Permanent employment
- Adequate payment in accordance with the Belgian law
- An international political working environment
- Appropriate professional development opportunities
- A friendly, appreciative working environment with open-minded colleagues

Please send your complete application documents by e-mail until 01.12.2021 to: Claudia Detsch, justclimate@fes.de